

DIRECTOR BIOGRAPHY

Chris Chesterman

Chris has run his own private practice in Oxford since qualifying as a Sports Massage Practitioner in 2005, resulting in the pinnacle of his career working alongside other sports massage practitioners at the London 2012 Olympic & Paralympic Games. He is the resident soft tissue therapist for the New Theatre and Oxford Playhouse working on visiting productions including Chicago, Lord of the Dance and Stomp. His theatre work also includes the annual Oxford Christmas Pantomime working alongside writer and Director Peter Duncan as their physical advisor and soft tissue therapist.

Away from the greasepaint and bright lights, He also works in professional sport as a soft tissue therapist for Oxford United FC and he leads the NSPCC sports massage teams for their annual main fundraising events the London Marathon and the Gherkin Challenge. He was the a Regional Director for South UK for the SMA before joining the board in 2014.

In his spare time he coaches Oxford City FC's children's team the Oxford City Blues and he says he is a proud 80's throwback regularly to be found singing along at Adam Ant concerts. He is married to Serena and they have two children, daughter Chloe and son Adam!
